Anchor Loss Prevention Infographic

Consequences of anchor equipment loss/damage

Direct consequences:
- Replacement and recovery cost
- Off-hire and service delays

Indirect consequences:
- Grounding, collision, dragging:
  - Damage to ship/other ship, subsea equipment, pipelines, cables etc.
  - Pollution

The most serious and high impact cases occur when a ship's anchor is dragging or loses the anchor under bad weather conditions!

Source: https://www.dnv.com