Employee Recognition — HR Course

Course Description

Successful businesses know that the more gratitude in a company, the better it performs. This course will cover what employee recognition is, why it's important in your business and tips on how to recognize employees in different ways.